In this day and age where it seems like everyone has a voice and platform on social media, it feels easy to get lost in the mix. We see time and time again the guy who posts the well articulated thought receives a shower of likes and shares. Or the girl who posts the most picture perfect image of herself (no pun intended) appearing to have it all together with the perfect smile, maybe surrounded by her family or friends who also appear to be perfectly happy. Then there's us who see it all and causes a feeling of doubt and insignificance. In the age where everyone has a platform we feel smaller than ever before.

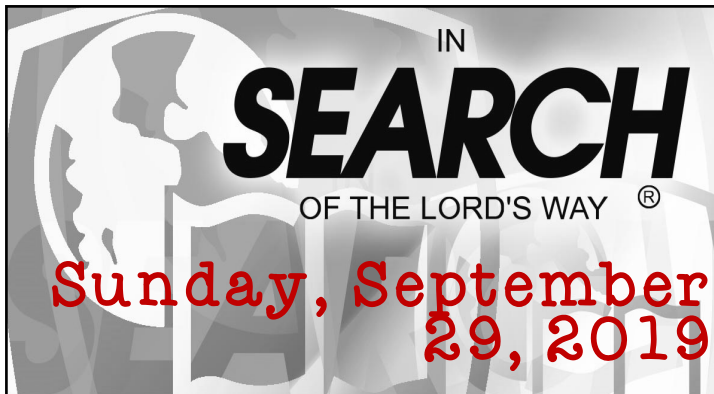

Waking up to this reality every day feels emotionally crippling. We want to feel joy and appreciation for our friends that receive this attention but feel cheated when we get passed by on the timeline. It's heart breaking to not feel the love and affection we all crave.

With so much emotional baggage to carry around, where do we turn to? We have to turn to the one who took on all the suffering, the one who accepted every ounce of pain, the one who knows all of our struggles. We must turn to the man of sorrows who gave up everything for everyone, even those of us that feel small.

When we feel at our lowest, Jesus is there and knows better than anyone how much it hurts. In Him we find the peace that passes all understanding. In our times of need, He is there with outstretched arms to reassure us that we mean something. Jesus cares even when it seems like no one else does. No matter how small we feel Jesus loved us to the point of death.

Jesus showed us the ultimate example of love and continues to be there in our times of need. He will always be there no matter how small we may feel.

David McCullough

This Sunday's topic is
"The Musts of Christianity"

"The word "must" is often found in Scripture. That concept means there are things necessary for us to do. The Lord Jesus often speaks of the things that He had to do and also speaks of the things we must do as well.

TUNE IN AT 7:30 AM - WTAP TV

Tune in next Sunday morning to see how Phil Sanders addresses this subject. The program airs at 7:30 AM on WTAP TV.
